A GUIDE FOR APP MAKERS

How I passed the Google Play closed test

12 testers, 14 days and 5 things worth knowing upfront.

1

12 testers for 14 days

A new personal developer account can’t publish an app without a closed test. Testers must stay opted in for 14 days in a row.

2

Testers via a Google Group

One group instead of a list of emails. Set it so anyone can join, or you'll approve every person by hand.

3

Friends aren’t enough

Most of my testers came from swaps with other makers: I test their apps, they test mine.

4

Testers really help

During the test I shipped 4 updates, from 1.0.2 to 1.0.5, based on their feedback.

5

Watch the counter

If the number of testers drops below 12, the countdown may start over. Check it every few days.

Production access approved in 2 days

Questions about publishing on Google Play? Ask in the comments.

Free on Google Play

My app: “Gratitude – Daily Journal” on Google Play

Gratitude – Daily Journal · Android · 7 languages